

Farmers supporting their local communities

Participant Owen O'Connor with farmers Ger Joy (right) and Gearóid Joy, busy at work on Joy's dairy farm near Killorglin.

'The self-development side of it is a two-way process...'

WE heard about Kerry Social Farming from a friend and it just sounded like a very positive thing to do. I think the more information that is out there about Social Farming the better it will become.

Owen is our participant and he absolutely loves being involved in the farm and being with Ger around machinery. Owen likes being out and about on the land and he has a real interest in animals. He has become a lot more outgoing and chatty since he started on the farm.

It's a great feeling to know you can help people and add something to their lives, even if it's only in a small way. We're very happy that we got involved and for other farmers out there I would say give it a try. The self-development side of it is a two-way process and hopefully more farmers will become involved.

Ger and Catherine Joy, Killorglin

Local Link Kerry is delighted to work in partnership with Kerry Social Farming

We go here and there...
So you can do this and that

Local Link provides door-to-door and scheduled bus service to towns, villages and rural areas around Ireland. With fares from as little as €2. Free travel pass valid on these services

locallink.ie

Tel: 066 7147002 • Email: bookings@locallinkkerry.ie • Web: www.locallinkkerry.ie